

Create more effective communication with other C-me colours - try out these suggestions to improve relationships

Top tip: adjust your preference to communicate in the way that absolutely works for the other person/s

If RED your strongest preference ... you're strong-minded, confident; detail bores; thrive on new, innovative ideas.

When communicating with ...

- another strongest preference RED don't be too strong or overbearing; be yourself; REDS see eye-to-eye pretty quickly. Let them have some control
- a strong preference YELLOW be extra friendly; let them talk, tell their latest adventure / story / joke etc; be a little less formal/ business-like; be enthusiastic
- a strong preference GREEN slow down a little; make them feel comfortable; don't scare them as your RED preferred style might be perceived as intimidating; be friendly; give time to digest the facts; don't over stress the new; GREENS prefer the stability of the tried and tested
- a strong preference BLUE answer their questions; give facts, figures, comparisons, charts etc; BLUES love proof; slow the pace; resist pushy; time for BLUE to think is important; answer objections; be authentic

If YELLOW is your strongest preference ... you'll be very sociable and people orientated; lack attention to detail; get bored easily; love to have fun, talk a lot

When communicating with ...

- a strong preference RED cut the jokes /small talk; get to the bottom line fast; business-like is essential; results, results, results; cut to the chase; no time wasting
- another strong preference YELLOW remember you're not there for a good time; don't talk each other into the ground; make the ask whatever it is!
- a strong preference GREEN talk in terms of people / stories; weave in facts along the way to reassure; provide training / product knowledge; earn trust; don't be too strong / over-friendly too quickly
- a strong preference BLUE ditch the socialising; stories are out; don't waste BLUE's time; give facts & figures; do homework; frivolous is not appreciated; concentrating is a challenge for you YELLOWs to take on as you make an effort to raise your blue

If GREEN is your strongest preference ... you'll be very dependable, could do with more confidence; in a new position / role being easily discouraged can happen; 'No' is too easily accepted; turning up dial of forceful is key

When communicating with ...

- a strong preference RED encourage yourself to be more confident /assertive; be prepared / aware that REDS might challenge you; strong-willed REDS can be intimidating so develop strategies to overcome this
- a strong preference YELLOW keep control during the interaction so that YELLOW doesn't, with excitement, spin in all directions; keep the conversation focused; before a conversation with YELLOW plan / make notes to keep on track; being people people you'll relate well; be alert to YELLOWs over-friendly approach
- a strong preference GREEN remember like you they want reassuring; good time to practice being more confident; remember to be brave AND close the 'deal' whatever that is
- a strong preference BLUE answer their questions; remember they crave detail and are not attacking you; BLUE directness is not personal; be confident with what you know about product / plan etc; BLUE will challenge you so time to get over yourself and dive in; BLUE will be sceptical so remember that you know your stuff; all normal for BLUE so be firm and present facts and figures; BLUES actually need reassurance like you yet in a different way; GREENs slower approach works excellently in your favour which is a great result

If BLUE is your strongest preference ... you are exceptionally organised; proven ideas / products are what you relish working with; facts / figures are your métier

When communicating with ...

- a strong preference RED state bottom line immediately; minimum facts / figures; paint big picture /big idea; show results, goals, achievements; persuade yourself to have more courage in what you do
- a strong preference YELLOW let them talk a little; engage in their stories; be enthusiastic; facts / figures keep to minimum; invite them to have fun experiencing for themselves eg products /technical aspects
- a strong preference GREEN be friendly, more informal; give time for GREENs to accept your proposal; talk about family; be patient; slow down a fraction
- a strong preference BLUE is a perfect match; home at last!; BLUES appreciate thorough precise presentations; on same wavelength; your best connection; your best plan/ sale / project.