

Women at the Top Leadership Research Series

It is always interesting to be curious about the ripple effect of role models, inspiring teachers, trail blazers bravery. How are those doors opened, glass ceilings dissolved, seemingly insurmountable cliffs scaled, limitations challenged, assumptions overturned? Is it simply one courageous or foolhardy person or a combination of many making those ripples spread way beyond what might be thought possible?

Whilst co-ordinating BWB (Bristol Women in Business from corporates and large businesses) when meeting in person was possible the opportunity to input another dimension became clear. Inspirational women at the top by sharing their story have influenced, intrigued and encouraged the realisation that we are all role models, inspiring teachers, brave trailblazers.

As a result, my inspiration has been to invite women at the top to share their thoughts regarding leadership and create this series of interviews. I began with five questions and as the first interview was coming to a close two more questions were determined to be asked – What question would you like to have been asked? And then to ask the interviewee to answer it which was fun. And the other question was ... who would you like to be interviewed or suggest that I interview?

Here are the 7 questions

You have no doubt inspired a lot of aspiring leaders – from where (or from whom) do you draw your inspiration?

What would you say have been the biggest developments in leadership that you have witnessed in your years as a leader?

What do you think are the most significant trends and challenges faced by leadership today?

What do you think today's leaders should be doing to keep moving leadership to a new level?

What advice would you give to young aspiring leaders?

What question would you like to have been asked?

Who would you like to have / recommend be interviewed?
